DM Name:	Élodie Lloyd
Pronouns:	she/her & they/them
DM email address:	dnd13@aspergersvic.org.au
How did you get into D&amp;D?	For many years, I was curious to try this 'Dungeons & Dragons' thing, but well... I never really imagined it being anything like it actually was. Once I tried it, there was no going back. I was instantly hooked on the rabbit hole of roleplaying games.
How long have you been playing D&amp;D?	Since 2017
How long have you been DMing?	Since 2018
What do you love about D&amp;D?	I love the huge amounts of opportunity for creativity. I love the shared storytelling, worldbuilding and colourful characters people come up with! I love that literally anything can be possible, and last but not least, I adore the genre of high fantasy!
What do you like most about D&amp;D at AV?	I love the passion and community. Everybody loves what they do!!
What is your connection to the Aspergers / autistic community?	I'm autistic / I have autism / I have Aspergers / I'm an Aspie
What advice would you give a new player (either new to AV's D&amp;D program or new to D&amp;D in general)?	Be creative!! There's a whole imaginary world out there. The answer to a situation isn't on your character sheet.
What is the funniest thing to happen in one of your campaigns (either in AV or outside)?	When we hijacked a serious speech denouncing adventurers and turned it into a pantomime about killing vampires (with audience interaction of course). The party member playing the vampire didn't really appreciate when we gave a crowbar to a child who wanted to play the hero.
Anything else you'd like to share	I love art, illustration, writing, roleplaying

about yourself, either as a DM / DMA or outside D&amp;D?	and all things nerdy!!
What would you choose to have as a superpower and why?	Shapeshifting. Because then I could be whoever and whatever I want...
